REMAINS OF JOHN HAY AT REST IN CLEVELAND

Funeral Attended by President and Cabinet and Many Other Distinguished Men.

SIMPLE SERVICES

Were Held at Request of Dead Secretary's Family.

BODY ESCORTED BY CAVALRY TO LOT IN LAKEVIEW CEMETERY, WHERE IT WAS CONSIGED TO ITS LAST RESTING PLACE. PRESIDENT RETURNED AT ONCE TO WASHINGTON.

By Associated Press. Cleveland, O., July 5.—At almost exactly noon to-day the body of John Hay was laid to rest in Lakeview cemetery. Around the open grave at the last moment stood with bowed heads the president and vice-president of the United States, members and ex-members of the present cabinet and men who had in former years served with the dead secretary in the official family of President McKinley.

There were many others who willingly would have paid a tribute of honor and respect to Mr. Hay, but it was the wish of his family that the funeral should be conducted for John Hay—the man they knew and loved in private life, and not for the brilliant and forceful premier whose name is honored wherever clean and successful statesmanship is esteemed among men.

A Small Assemblage. The assemblage at his funeral and around his grave was therefore small. The visible honors accorded him in death were in a ratio directly inverse to those freely given him in life, and perhaps no greater testimony to the worth of the man could have been given than the quiet manner in which his countrymen, who appreciated his character and achievements, stood beside at his family's wish to take his body to the place of his final rest. The events of the day commenced with the arrival of President Roosevelt's train at 9 a. m., and closed with its departure at 3 p. m. The funeral itself was held between 11 and 12 o'clock, the interment being at noon.

When at 9 o'clock the special train carrying President Roosevelt and the members of his cabinet arrived at the depot of the Pennsylvania road, a reception committee composed of members of the chamber of commerce was in waiting and greeted the president. The president then walked quickly from the train toward his carriage, accompanied by Mr. Swasey, president of the chamber of commerce. As soon as they had taken their seats, the members of the cabinet and the reception committee entered other carriages and headed by the riding members of Troop H, the procession of carriages moved off at a smart trot to the chamber of commerce, two miles away.

The President's Party. In the presidential party were Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury; Charles J. Bonaparte, secretary of the navy; James Wilson, secretary of agriculture; E. A. Hitchcock, secretary of the interior; Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of commerce and labor; Postmaster General G. B. Cortelyou, Attorney General W. H. Moody, Senator P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania, former attorney general; Charles E. Smith, former postmaster general; Paul McNamara, former secretary of the navy; and Elihu Root, former secretary of war. In addition there were the president's stenographer, M. A. Latta, and the president's secretary, William Lusk, Jr., and Dr. Rixey, surgeon general of the United States navy. An enormous crowd had gathered in front of the chamber of commerce to see the coming of the president and the departure of the funeral train, and a strong detail of police was necessary to keep them in line. Side by side with Mr. Swasey and closely followed by Vice-President Fairbanks, who in company with Governor Herndon, met the president at the depot, and the members of the cabinet and reception committee, the president moved slowly along the hall toward the door of the auditorium in which the body lay. The two sentries on guard at the door fell back with pressed arms, and giving them a quick salute the president entered and stood by the casket. The members of the presidential party followed and when all had entered the doors were swung and the sentries resumed their guard once more.

It was the expressed wish of Mrs. Hay that President Roosevelt should be allowed to see the face of the secretary again, if he desired to do so. When the matter was mentioned to

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT EN ROUTE TO THE EAST

GREETED BY LARGE CROWD WHEN TRAIN ARRIVED AT PITTSBURG, BUT DECLINED TO MAKE ADDRESS—SUBJECT OF SUCCESSION TO MR. HAY CONSIDERED BUT NO ANNOUNCEMENT MADE.

By Associated Press. Pittsburgh, July 5.—The president's train arrived here as a special from Cleveland at 8:50 to-night and left for the East at 9. Quite a large crowd gathered at the station to greet him and after repeated calls for a speech the president responded, saying they ought not expect him to make a speech after returning from the funeral of Mr. Hay, who had been a friend of all the people.

The president spent the afternoon and night after leaving Cleveland in an informal conference with the cabinet on board his train. He had as his personal guests Elihu Root, Paul Morton, Charles Emory Smith, Secretary

Shaw, Attorney General Moody, Postmaster General Cortelyou and Dr. Rixey. During the afternoon the president took up important matters with members of the cabinet individually, but no announcement was made concerning them. The president talked long and earnestly with Former Secretary Root, who has been almost constantly with him since joining him at Jersey City yesterday. It is yet too early to make any announcement regarding the successor to Mr. Hay, but it is known the subject was considered informally by the president to-day with friends aboard the train.

Euclid avenue and then due east to the cemetery, five miles away.

At the Cemetery. The drive to the cemetery occupied the greater part of an hour, and it was almost 11 o'clock when the cavalry swept under the arched gateway and halted at the side of Wade chapel. Forming a line on one side of the roadway, the horsemen stood with presented sabres while the casket was carried into the little chapel, followed by the family and the president and members of the cabinet. The services were strictly private, and indeed, the chapel is so small that it was difficult for all of the properly accredited persons to find room within the walls.

The services were simple. A hymn, Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," was rendered by a male quartette, a passage of the scriptures was read by Rev. H. C. Hayden, pastor of the old stone church. This was followed by a second hymn, "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest," from the quartette, and a brief prayer by

Americans Ahead in the Lawn Tennis Championships

By Associated Press. London, July 5.—Bertie C. Wright and Holcomb Ward retired to-day from all the English double championships only after what was conceded to be the most magnificent exhibition of lawn tennis ever seen at Wimbledon. S. H. Smith, the Welsh champion, and Frank L. Risely, one of the best exponents of tennis in England, said in their opinions, they played at top form.

In the first set the Americans simply smothered the Britishers, but the effect seemed to tire them and they lost the second and third set. The "fireworks" began in the fourth set when Wright commenced playing the game of his life, ably assisted by Ward. The Americans won the first four games with the Britishers contesting every point, but in the fast playing which was continued to the end the Britishers finally got the upper hand and took one set, 9 to 7.

MYTHICAL STORY OF MOB VIOLENCE

By Associated Press. Nashville, Tenn., July 5.—A Russellville, Ky., dispatch to the Banner puts an entirely new phase on the alleged attempt at mob violence at that place last night. A party of friends, it appears, attempted to release the four white men in jail at Russellville charged with criminal assault on a German girl near that place some weeks ago, and whose trial is now in progress. In attempting to escape was shot twice, but not dangerously wounded. The prisoners, with the exception of Jim Lyon, were taken to Bowling Green for safe-keeping.

STRIKERS FIRED ON BY COSSACKS

By Associated Press. St. Petersburg, July 5.—Cossacks fired on the Putiloff works strikers this morning. The trouble was started by the arrest of a youth who was entering the works. The policeman who took him into custody suspected the young man of having dynamite in his possession. The latter on being made a prisoner drew a revolver and killed the policeman. The strikers quickly congregated in the Peterhoff road and Cossacks were ordered to disperse them. The soldiers charged, using their whips and then fired a volley causing several casualties among the strikers. The excitement in the district is intense.

WORKING CLERICAL FORCE IS ABOUT NINETY PER CENT. SHORT—MANY LEAVING THE ISTHMUS AS FAST AS NECESSARY FUNDS CAN BE SECURED.

By Associated Press. New York, July 5.—The steamer Advance has arrived here from Panama and the passengers have brought bad reports of conditions there, one saying, "Things are very bad at the Isthmus. The diseases prevalent are measles, smallpox, yellow fever, chagres and malaria fever, and there is one case of bubonic plague. The dead taken from Colon to the cemetery always number one and sometimes fourteen a day. Ten graves are always ready for cases of emergency. The working clerical force on the Isthmus is about ninety per cent. short. The government seems to be delaying paying them and forty of my mates were waiting for money to catch this steamer, but only six got it in time to sail." A nurse has also returned and says that none returning to states now will go back as sickness is increasing and the conditions are becoming worse.

AIRSHIP MADE A SUCCESSFUL TRIP

By Associated Press. New York, July 5.—Leo Stevens, at a nearby pleasure resort, has sailed J. H. Baldwin's airship, the "California Arrow," 200 feet into the air and after a trip skirting the ocean front for some distance, returned in safety to the place of starting. While the airship was a hundred feet above the ground the long drag line which was trailing, caught in the electric wires. Stevens sent the airship ahead at full speed, the wire gave way and released the drag line, permitting the airship to continue its trip. Stevens declared that he could easily navigate the "California Arrow" around the borough of Brooklyn, a feat which he declared he will attempt within the next few days. He added: "The ship was not in my control from the time it left the aerodrome until I returned, and I had no difficulty in describing curves, descending or ascending while in the air."
